Tributes to Tagore, books and world of fiction

Young Horizons School

■ To celebrate the 162nd birth anniversary of Rabindranath Tagore, students, teachers and parents of Young Horizons School took part in a prabhat pheri (morning round). The walk that began from Karaya Police Station and ended near Syed Amir Ali Avenue was named He nutan after a timeless Rabindrasangeet.

The participants were all dressed in traditional clothes, some carrying posters of Tagore's quotes and verses. The students sang Rabindrasangeet such as Purano shei diner kotha and Amra sobai raja and recited the bard's poems, mesmerising local residents, many of whom joined in. They also danced to Aguner poroshmoni and Ekla cholare among others.

Principal Sarmistha Sen congratulated the children, teachers and parents for the wonderful road show. She also thanked the local administration.

"The idea was to spread the message of Tagore through his songs and poetry in the neighbourhood. It was a very successful effort. The students were very excited. The local people were appreciative. Since our school in Karaya Road does not have much space, we decided on celebrating Tagore under the open sky," said the principal.
